Johnny and the Devil's Box

Johnny Baker is the best fiddler that's ever been, and he aims to prove it. But his boasting attracts the attention of another fiddler – the Devil himself – who shows up with a plan for Johnny's destruction. With fame, fortune and love tempting him at every turn, Johnny must find his true path and the strength to win a battle of the bows with the highest possible stakes. It's a jubilant new musical with one foot in the Georgia mountains, one foot in the Grand Ole Opry, and music that will stir your soul. Written by Playhouse alumni, Douglas Waterbury-Tieman (Backwards in High Heels, Big River), this exciting new musical is one that you don't want to miss!

Join Sue Beason of Dan's Tours and Travel for fun, exciting day. We will travel through central Tennessee and enjoy the gorgeous mountain views. We will have lunch along the way and enjoy a stop Simonton's Cheese House before arriving at the Cumberland County Playhouse. The Cumberland County Playhouse is now the only major non-profit professional performing arts resource in rural Tennessee, and one of the 10 largest professional theaters in rural America. It serves more than 145,000 visitors annually with two indoor stages, an outdoor venue, Theater for Young Audiences productions, a comprehensive education program, and a concert series.
